1. The first step in the process of developing a new product is to identify a market need. This is often done through market research, which can involve surveys, focus groups, and other methods of gathering information about potential customers. Once a market need has been identified, the next step is to develop a concept for a product that meets that need. This involves brainstorming ideas and selecting the most promising one. The third step is to create a prototype of the product, which allows the developer to test the concept and make any necessary adjustments. Finally, the product is launched into the market, and the developer monitors its performance and makes any necessary adjustments to ensure its success.

The above information was obtained from a review of the records of the Department of Social Services, State of New York, Office of the Commissioner of Social Services, dated 10/1/78.
