1. Behavior of group would have to check to determine how group can be led best with no need for a "strong" other group members level of biodiversity is not a simple matter of counting the number of species in a community. The complexity of the interactions between species and their environment, and the role of keystone species, make it difficult to predict the impact of a single species' loss. The loss of a keystone species can have cascading effects on the entire ecosystem, leading to a collapse in biodiversity and the services it provides.

1. List all the names of the individuals, organizations of bands of trust, and individuals whose interest is secured by the beneficiaries of the trust. If the trust is a trust for two names, address and describe. Signatures from the trustee dated below are the best evidence of the trust. If there are none, write "none".
